

FREE BOOKS FOR EVERYONE

Lex Drás, Author of “It’s Mama’s Fault!”

The Literary World is strange in that a number of concurrent events must happen before they accept a book into their sphere of influence. Missing such protocols and your book can disappear into obscurity! I want to offer my story and message to everyone, if anyone requests it, and for free! In order to accomplish this objective, certain processes must occur. Bear with me while I trace the steps backward to explain how the processes of delivering a free book to the public works.

Before a library can offer a book to their patrons, free, they need to acquire it. They will base their acquisition on a few things. One of their bases is by request from patrons. Another is by reviews written in various trade publications serving librarians. A third way is by a write-up in the newspaper about the author or subject matter of the Book. We are approaching this aspect from all perspectives.

If you would like to see this book in your local Library, please sign our petition requesting its availability. It will show Library administrators that there is a demand for the publication. When in conjunction with the other bases for acquiring the Book, the librarians have no choice but to appease their patrons.

In order to get a book reviewed by one of the Library trade publications, the publisher must submit a copy of the book 3 - 4 months before the publication date of the book. For example, if a reviewer obtains a book in June, the projected Publication Date must be in, at the least, in October or later. Shortening this period may strike the book from either a reviewer’s list or missing a Library’s buying cycle altogether. When a Library buys a book, it usually only purchases the most recent copyrighted works. Depending on how many buying cycles a Library has will determine if it purchases it, if at all, in the copyrighted year.

Some reviewers require “Galleys” (the raw material, bound, without the final/formal cover) while others want the Actual Book, as it will appear in the stores. Getting the book into the hands of reviewers requires that the book be printed in the applicable format and mailed to their locations, along with additional specific “review copy” material. This process takes time and up-front monies, with no expected sales of the book for at least 4 - 6 months; yea, daunting, isn’t it?! Yes, I want this material in the hands of as many people as possible, free, but as I have just explained, it is a process and I need your contributions to make it possible (Associated Expenses, click here). Understand that your contribution is not a “direct” purchase and then the book is given to the libraries, your contribution will facilitate the review process so that libraries will purchase the book, gladly.

Why put the book in the Public Libraries across the country? EVERYBODY WINS! You see, a single purchase from you is just that, just you. You may share your copy with maybe 2 or 3 people and it may stop there. However, your contribution will go towards dozens of libraries becoming aware, across the nation, acquiring one or more copies of the book and sharing it with 100's of people if not thousands, for free! Sure, there will be individuals who will purchase their own copy but the Public Libraries of the nation will give the message a wider audience. Contribute Now, click here!

What does this have to do with you?! Well, that is a valid question worth answering so let me get to the point. However, before I do, let me ask you a couple of questions. How you answer my questions, will inevitably answer your question: NOTHING to do with me or EVERYTHING to do with me.

Does your employer take taxes out of your paycheck (FICA)? Have you ever been a victim, or know someone close to you, of a violent crime? Do you own a house and pay real estate taxes? Do you have children that attend public schools? Do you pay insurance premiums for health or auto? If you answered yes to ANY of these questions then the message I have to communicate, to the masses, has EVERYTHING to you! The more people that receive and act upon what I suggest, the better off we all will be not to mention YOU and your family. Contribute Now, click here!

Call me crazy but what I'm proposing is a shift in Thinking, a change in Mindset, a way of Living! How to do these things, as a unit, has been life's ultimate Paradox, hidden inside an Enigma, posed as a Question and presented as a Riddle, to anyone seeking "The Answer!" It's no surprise why people are running around here clueless! I have "The Answer" but REQUIRE your help to prove it! Contribute Now, click here!

This project is bigger than the long-term damage of what illegitimate births do to our society. This project is about Problem Solving, at its core. This project is about installing specific Principles, as early an age as possible, to universal issues, that effects us all. Oh, please believe me, I'm not naive or delusional about the time this shift will take. This process will be generational and work that must go on long after I have passed but we MUST start somewhere. WHY NOT WITH YOU? Contribute Now, click here!

You know, the deterioration of our society does not need to be like this! There are SolutionS! That's right, two capital "S's!" The solution is comprised of multiple SOLUTIONS, linked together, upon which to build a framework of success. Establishing a Nationwide program, to install Problem-Solving Principles, is the ultimate objective, BEYOND THE BOOK. Contribute Now, click here!
